

National
Suicide Prevention
Alliance

Resources

Understanding more about suicide prevention and bereavement support, who is affected, how people can be helped, what current government policy is, and the latest research are all crucial to the on-going work of preventing deaths by suicide. Here we host a range of resources to help anyone working or interested in this field.